Distance Education in the Fire Service Symposium

With the changes in technology and learning styles of the typical firefighter, instructors are challenged to incorporate technology and distance education concepts in the classroom. This symposium provides fire service instructors an introduction to distance education concepts in an up close and personal way, featuring experts in the field. The ISFSI has partnered with TargetSafety to provide a symposium that provides information instructors can use to integrate technology and distance education into their training program. Symposium topics include:

- Intro to Distance Education
- Technology - From Print to Podcasting
- Adapting Course for Distance Ed
- Case Studies - Distance Success Stories
- Demonstration of Distance Ed Platforms
- Open Question and Answer Period

We look forward to seeing you!
